LAWRENCE, K. T.

Several weeks ago we wrote Balis & HICKS, dealers in printing paper at Kansas City, from whom we have purchased printing material the last few mouths, that we should rely upon them for our stock of paper this winter. They wrote in reply that they should keep a large supply on hand, and would be able at all times to fill our orders.

About four weeks ago we sent them money in payment for a small stock .-They forwarded a portion of it, and wrote that they were daily in expectation of receiving a large supply by river, when they would furnish the balance of our bill. Since then we have heard nothing direct from them, but have understood from others that their stock was frozen up in the river, and, hence, were unable to fill their orders.

the interim the HERALD OF FREEDOM must A. M. be temporarily suspended. We greatly regret this, but it is owing to circumstances over which we had no control. It is possible that several weeks may intervene that should we visit Chicago to secure a stock of paper, we should probably continue our journey to Pennsylvania, to transact some very important business there which we have long neglected.

Mr. Trask will remain in charge of the office to transact any business pertaining to the establishment, and will give particular attention to job work, orders for which are solicited.

Old John Brown in Virginia!

THE adventures of this famed Kansas hero will be the theme of millions of tongues all over the Union, the coming winter. Whatever may be said of his rationality, one thing is certain, the old man did what he has done, not for himself but for over three millions of Slaves now lying in almost hopeless bendage. If it was right for our Revolutionary Fathers to obtain their freedom at the cannons' mouth, is it not right for the slaves who suffer, as Jefferson has said, an incalculably worse bondage than our Fathers did, to imitate their example? And if Lafayette did right in coming to America to help us, did not John Brown do right in going to Virginia ty help the slaves?

This may not be so; but whether it is or not, all persons wishing to discuss the subject, can do so at my store without running the risk of being arrested for treason.
